The supernatural seems to force us toward religion, while the paranormal merely forces us to say, "I don't know."

—Steve Volk<sup>1</sup>

Pseudoscience speaks to powerful emotional needs that science often leaves unfulfilled....Pseudoscience is embraced, it might be argued, in exact proportion as real science is misunderstood...Religions are often the state-protected nurseries of pseudoscience.

—Carl Sagan<sup>2</sup>

Psi, the paranormal, and the supernatural are fundamentally linked to destructuring, change, transition, disorder, marginality, the ephemeral, fluidity, ambiguity, and blurring of boundaries. —George P. Hansen<sup>3</sup>

Course Overview

As many as three-quarters of Americans hold at least one paranormal belief. What does this tell us about the future of religion? We will examine the paranormal as an "other" category for both religion and science. Organized religion uses it to distinguish the miraculous from unsanctioned activities like witchcraft and the occult. Science frames itself as the opposite of superstition. And yet in a "disenchanted" world, it's important to ask why we continue to be fascinated with the paranormal, as seen in the explosion of the topic in film (horror, superheroes), television, gaming and manga. This course takes a multi-methodological approach that includes critical theory, folklore studies, laboratory research, and cognitive science. It also examines the role of the paranormal in human experience of healing and psychological transformation. Topics include telepathy, precognition, UFOs, government-sponsored research (US and Soviet), cryptozoology (Bigfoot, etc.), hauntings, curses and taboos, near-death experiences, possession (including erotic encounters), mediums, and channeling. Students will learn to look critically at both the phenomena and attempts to explain them.

Prerequisite

Achieving sophomore status.

Humanities Credit

This course meets the requirements for the University of Florida's Humanities credit. Humanities courses provide instruction in the history, key themes, principles, terminology, and theory or methodologies used within a humanities discipline or the humanities in general. Students will learn to identify and to analyze the key elements, biases and influences that shape thought. These courses emphasize clear and effective analysis and approach issues and problems from multiple perspectives. A minimum grade of C is required for general education credit.

Course Themes

Students will be introduced to major theoretical approaches in the study of religion through the lens of the paranormal, become acquainted with pivotal figures and movements, and approach critical questions such as:

What are the various and contested ways the paranormal or supernatural are understood,

"It's entirely your choice: a crop circle followed by a probing, or a probing followed by a crop circle."

- and what is their relationship with organized religion?
- What are the culturally specific aspects of paranormal belief?
- How can we think about the various scientific attempts to study and verify/or cordon off the paranormal from acceptable science?
- What role does the paranormal play in personal transformation and developing meaning and purpose?
- What role has paranormal experience played in narratives of liberation from political and cultural oppression in the context of race, gender and sexuality?
- How have our discourses, attitudes, and paranormal practices been shaped by, and shaped religions?

Prof. Erin Prophet

Students will complete the course with a broad knowledge of academic approaches to the paranormal, acquainted both with pivotal figures, movements, and critical questions.

Course Outline and Learning Modules

Unit 1: Framings. Explores different historical approaches to the paranormal, including scientific debunking and religious utility of the paranormal, from boundary-setting to proof of divine power.

Unit 2: Spirits. Examines the experience of spirit possession and hauntings, including their relationship to gender and power dynamics. Examines some of the early scientific attempts to study them.

Unit 3: Veridical Approaches. Reviews twentieth-century research aimed at proving the existence of psychic phenomena, including the laboratories at Duke and Princeton, as well as US and Soviet government sponsored research into psychics and UFOs.

Unit 4: Interpretive Approaches. From the imagination to the psyche, various approaches to the paranormal have side-stepped the question of the truth of paranormal activity and focused instead on the folkloric, literary and political potentialities of the paranormal.

Unit 5: Experiential Approaches. What is it like to experience a paranormal event? From erotic encounters to alien abductions and yoga "superpowers," this unit looks at the various ways that the lives of individuals have been transformed through their frightening or awe-inspiring encounters with a transcendent other.

Requirements

This course is centered on reading and discussion. Students will complete two papers totaling 4000 words.

CartoonStock.com

All students will participate in regular small-group discussion. Students are required to bring the readings to class or be able to access them remotely. Excerpts from films and documentaries about the class topics will also be screened during class before or after discussion. In order to ensure an optimum learning experience for the entire class, please do not take this course if you are not prepared to do the reading and engage in thoughtful discussion.

A high priority will be placed on the quality of preparation, participation, and thus also attendance. Blog posts and unit assessments will reinforce the reading and course lectures.

Prof. Erin Prophet

Course Contract

By accepting this syllabus, you are agreeing to participate in frank discussions of many matters that are commonly avoided in public and considered offensive or disturbing by some. These include—but are by no means restricted to—unusual phenomena such as hauntings, alien abductions, as well as ritual practices that are forbidden by some religions, including witchcraft and magic, and accounts of encounters that may be erotic, terrifying, or disturbing. If you are not ready to critically discuss such matters, do not take this course.

"Damn! Of all the times to have an out of body experience!"

Assignments and Grading Rubric

Assignment	Points per Assignment	Percentage Weight
Attendance	n/a	15%
In-class group work	10 points ea.	5%
Blog Posts (6)	15 points ea.	10%
Short Topic Paper	50 points	10%
In-Depth Term Paper	Paper Proposal (50), Outline (50), Paper draft (100); Revised paper (100)	40%
Midterm Exam	100 points	12%
Quizzes (2)	80 points	8%
Total		100%

The course grading rubric follows the standard UF grading scheme. There is no A+ grade. Grades are not rounded up; for example, a 93.85% is an A-and not an A.

- A 94 to 100; A-<94 to 90; B+<90 to 87; B <87 to 84; B-<84 to 80
- C+ <80 to 77; C <77 to 74; C- <74 to 70; D+ <70 to 67; D <67 to 64</li>
- D- <64 to 61; E <61 to 0</li>

Attendance: Taken during each class. The lowest score will be dropped.

Blog Posts: Six blog posts are due discussing prompts related to the readings and lectures.

Short Topic Paper Students will write an academic paper of at least 1,500 words that cites at least three course readings and three non-course readings.

Research Paper: Students will select a research topic, which must be a critical examination of an important issue related to the study of religion and the paranormal. The topic of the paper must be one on which the student can conduct research and develop a thesis. Topics must be approved by the instructor in the form of a report proposal. Once the topic is approved, the student will research the topic. Reports must cite a minimum number of five peer-reviewed, academic sources (published by university or academic presses) in addition to five course readings.

The reference lists for each paper must be complete and include all sources cited in the paper, including the minimum number of required course and non-course readings. Use APA citation style (7th edition) for the papers or another style guide approved by the instructor. Papers must be prepared in Microsoft Word and submitted both on paper and online via Turnitin.

Midterm Exam: The midterm exam will consist of multiple choice and essay questions. It represents 15% of the grade.

Writing Rule Requirement

This course confers 4,000 words towards the writing requirement (WR), which ensures students both maintain their fluency in writing and use writing as a tool to facilitate learning. While helping students meet the broad learning outcomes of content, communication, and critical thinking, the instructor will evaluate and provide feedback on students' written assignments with respect to grammar, punctuation, clarity, coherence, and organization.

Course grades have two components. The papers are graded with both a numerical points grade and a Satisfactory (S) or Unsatisfactory (N) grade. Students who receive an unsatisfactory on a paper will have one additional opportunity to revise and resubmit. To receive writing requirement credit, a student must receive a grade of C or higher and a satisfactory completion of the writing component of the course.

The University Writing Studio can provide assistance with writing or rewriting of papers:

Style guide: The recommended style guide is the American Psychological Association (APA) 7th edition. Students may use another style with instructor approval.

Papers will be graded based on the following rubric:

Writing Assessment Rubric

	SATISFACTORY (Y)	UNSATISFACTORY (N)
CONTENT	Papers exhibit at least some evidence of ideas that respond to the topic with complexity, critically evaluating and synthesizing sources, and provide at least an adequate discussion with basic understanding of sources.	Papers either include a central idea(s) that is unclear or off- topic or provide only minimal or inadequate discussion of ideas. Papers may also lack sufficient or appropriate sources.
ORGANIZATION AND COHERENCE	Documents and paragraphs exhibit at least some identifiable structure for topics, including a clear thesis statement but may require readers to work to follow progression of ideas.	Documents and paragraphs lack clearly identifiable organization, may lack any coherent sense of logic in associating and organizing ideas, and may also lack transitions and coherence to guide the reader.
ARGUMENT AND SUPPORT	Documents use persuasive and confident presentation of ideas, strongly supported with evidence. At the weak end of the Satisfactory range, documents may provide only generalized discussion of ideas or may provide adequate discussion but rely on weak support for arguments.	Documents make only weak generalizations, providing little or no support, as in summaries or narratives that fail to provide critical analysis.
STYLE	Documents use a writing style with word choice appropriate to the context, genre, and discipline. Sentences should display complexity and logical sentence structure. At a minimum, documents will display a less precise use of vocabulary and an uneven use of sentence structure or a writing style that occasionally veers away from word choice or tone appropriate to the context, genre, and discipline.	Documents rely on word usage that is inappropriate for the context, genre, or discipline. Sentences may be overly long or short with awkward construction. Documents may also use words incorrectly.
MECHANICS	Papers will feature correct or error-free presentation of ideas. At the weak end of the Satisfactory range, papers may contain some spelling, punctuation, or grammatical errors that remain unobtrusive so they do not muddy the paper's argument or points.	Papers contain so many mechanical or grammatical errors that they impede the reader's understanding or severely undermine the writer's credibility.

Course Policies

Attendance

Attendance and participation are highlighted in this class. Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies that can be found in the online catalog. Do not register for this class if you cannot attend on time. Tardiness harms your understanding of the material and disrupts the class. Please let me know about any planned absences (for religious holidays, athletic events, or other reasons) as soon as possible, and at least 24 hours in advance. For unplanned absences (due to illness or emergency), please let me know as soon as possible and provide paper or electronic documentation (e.g., doctor's note) if possible. Absences due to illness will be excused with a physician note. While some absences are unavoidable, if you expect to be unable to make class on a regular basis, you must receive permission in advance. Make-up assignments will be provided for those with excused absences, and recordings may be available for students with excused absences.

Disability Policy

Any student with a documented disability seeking academic adjustments or accommodations (including those involving the use of technology) is requested to speak with me during the first two weeks of class. All such discussions will remain as confidential as possible. Students with disabilities requesting accommodations should first register with the Disability Resource Center by providing appropriate documentation. Once registered, students will receive an accommodation letter which must be presented to the instructor when requesting accommodation. Students with disabilities should follow this procedure as early as possible in the semester. The Disability Resource Center may be contacted here: 352-392-8565; www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/

Use of Technology

During class, electronic devices may be used only for note-taking or participation in the course, such as accessing readings or completing online polls. Headphones may not be worn in the physical class or for remote participants unless required for online Zoom access.

Communication with Instructor

Communication and grading will take place online through Canvas. Please enable Canvas to forward all course announcements and instructor communications to your email so that you stay informed. You may email me directly but communication through Canvas is preferred.

Academic Dishonesty

Students engaged in any form of academic dishonesty, as defined under the "Academic Misconduct" section of the Student Discipline Code, may fail the course and will be subject to other disciplinary measures.

Canvas Reading Assignment Pages are Authoritative

Course reading assignments may be modified. The syllabus distributed at the beginning of class may be updated. The course reading assignment pages on Canvas are the operative and binding version, so to be sure of your assignment, check Canvas rather than the version distributed at the beginning of class. The course assignments and weighting will remain as they are in the syllabus, though due dates may be adjusted. Students should set up their Canvas account so that they receive instructor announcements via Canvas directly in their email.

Course Evaluations

Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing online evaluations at https://evaluations.ufl.edu

Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results/
